

Seventh Grade Newsletter

Religion

Ms. Piovane

We begin Chapter 7: "The Promise of Salvation" In this chapter the students will learn that God promised salvation through his Son, Jesus Christ, the Messiah.

Literature

Mrs. Schoening

This week the class will continue learning about business letters and will mail their letters of complaint. They will also learn what is important to include in a resume and will write their own resumes.

Math

Mr. Zepnikowski

In Algebra, we will study how to solve and graph complex inequalities. We will also learn how to graph these inequalities on the computer.

In Pre-Algebra, we will begin exploring equations and how to solve them. We will begin solving more complicated equations. We will begin work on our project this week.

Music

Mrs. Smith (Mrs. Dufield-substitute)

Students will begin to identify how music began in Gregorian chant and how it evolved. They will be able to identify which era of music is played by the end of class based on certain characteristics of the style.

Grammar/ Writing

Mrs. Schoening

The class is working on pronouns. We will go over object pronouns and pronouns after than or as. The class will continue with practice on possessive pronouns and adjectives.

Art

Ms. Hudson

Seventh grade will begin a new unit based on optical illusions. They will create a personal piece of art that will use their initials as part of their "Pop Art" design.

Science

Mrs. Rovenolt

We have begun the First Quarter Project, an electronic poster board in Discovery Education. They can use photos and videos from the vast library. We will use the microscopes.
